EXTREMADURA

VISIT • LIVE • INVEST

Everything you can imagine, where you wouldn't imagine it

Extremadura is a close, peaceful and safe destination where you can reconnect with nature, stroll through the pastures and discover protected areas. Where you can enjoy clear skies to see stars and birds flying over exceptional landscapes. And where you can dive into crystal-clear waters to refresh your senses. A destination where gastronomy and the heritage of its towns and cities are its most essential legacy.

Located in the southwest of the Iberian Peninsula and bordering Portugal, Extremadura offers a good road network that makes it very accessible from north to south. The airport, located just a few kilometres from the city of Badajoz, has recently been renovated. In addition to these infrastructures, Extremadura has an extensive network of hotels, restaurants and wow venues for any sort of event, in addition to its excellent network of conference centres, located in the main cities of Extremadura: Badajoz, Mérida and Villanueva de la Serena in the province of Badajoz, and Cáceres and Plasencia in the province of Cáceres. Extremadura is definitely an exceptional environment to hold the perfect event.

Extremadura is, above all, a place where you can enjoy the most authentic experiences. A trip to an uncrowded destination, where you can experience the purest sensations.

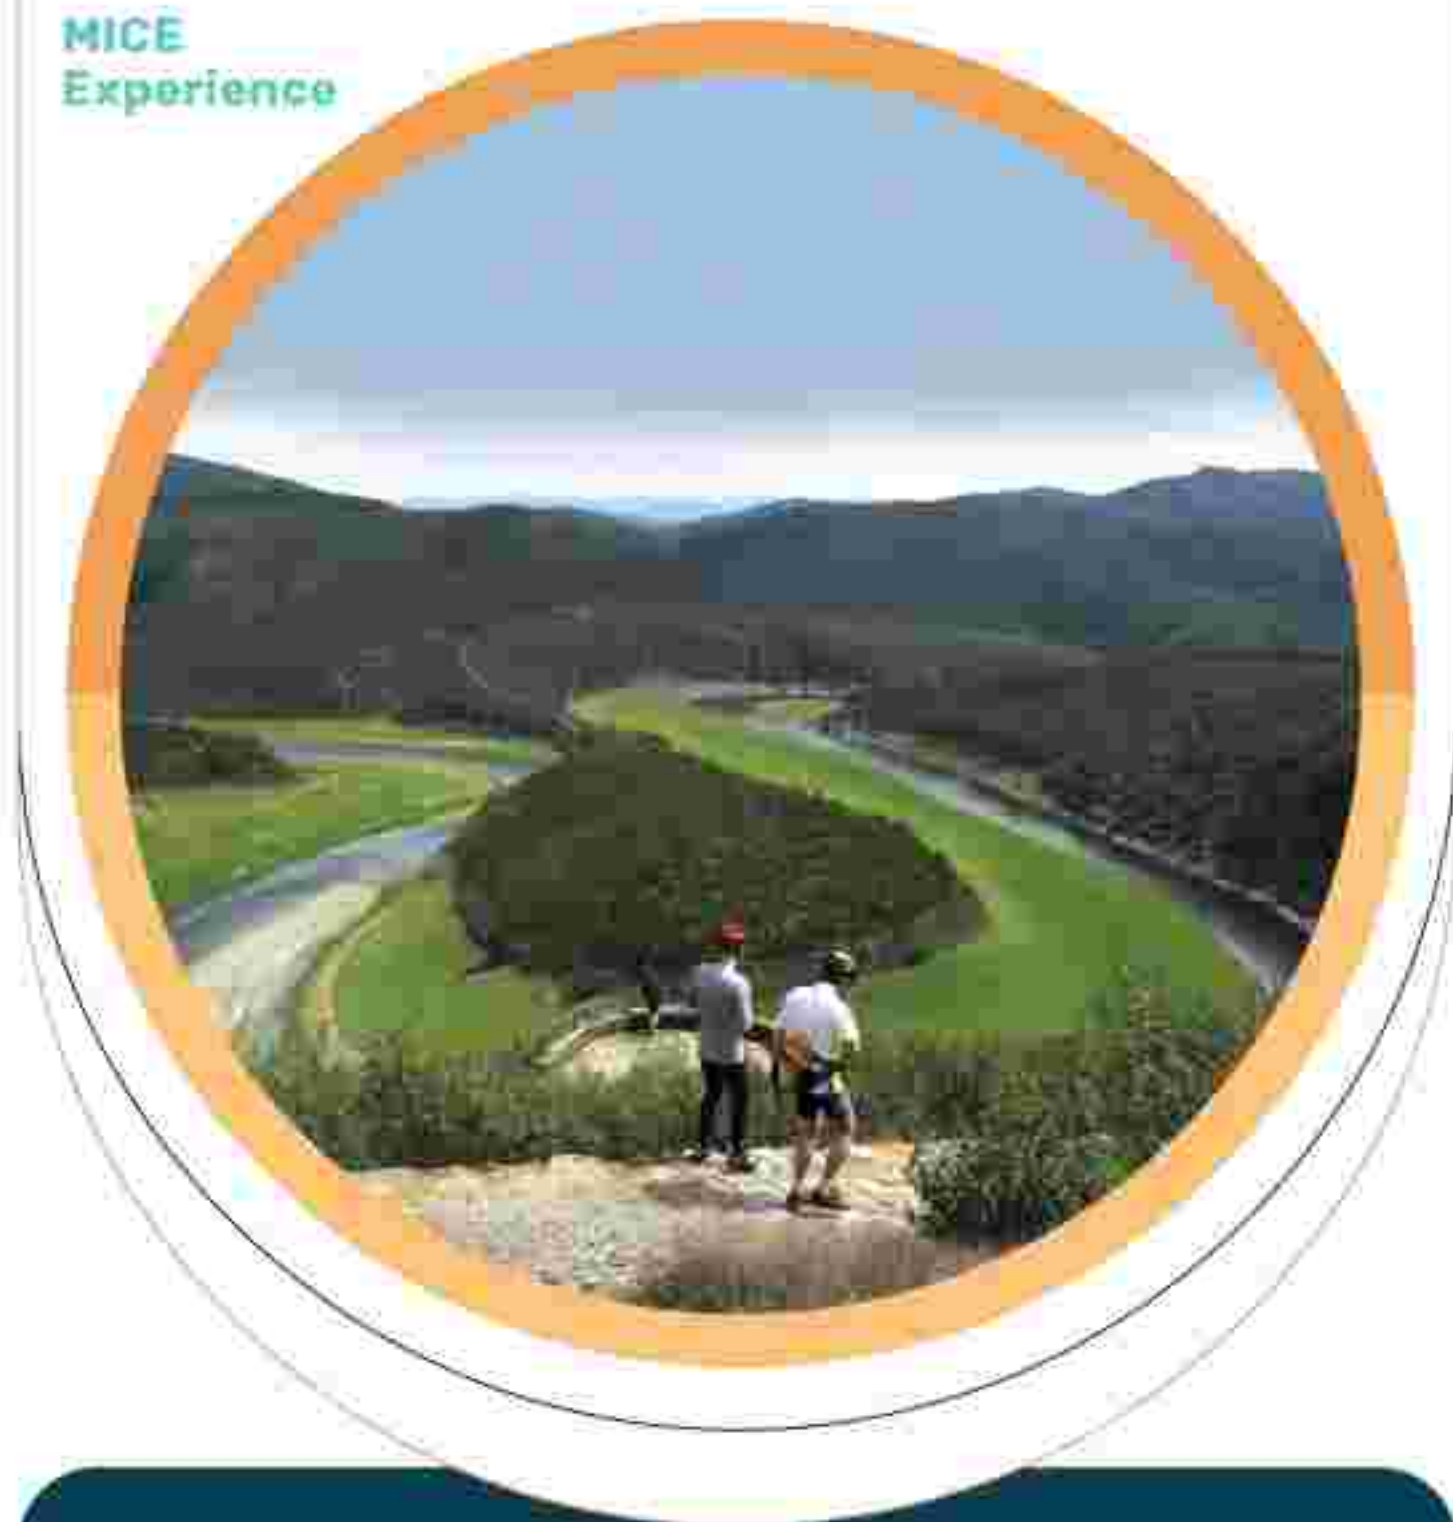

In the following guide we present 60 proposals for incentive trips or post-congress activities. All of them being possible experiences, for all kinds of preferences and for all seasons of the year: from healthy activities to cultural, sporting, gastronomic, agrotourism experiences... All of them carried out by great professionals to make the traveller feel that Extremadura will remain forever in their memory.

Practical workshop for high performance teams in Las Hurdes

A high-performance team will achieve results that go beyond their personal skills.

It is necessary for the team members to get to know each other, communicate and develop emotional bonds. Nature is one of the best places to do it.

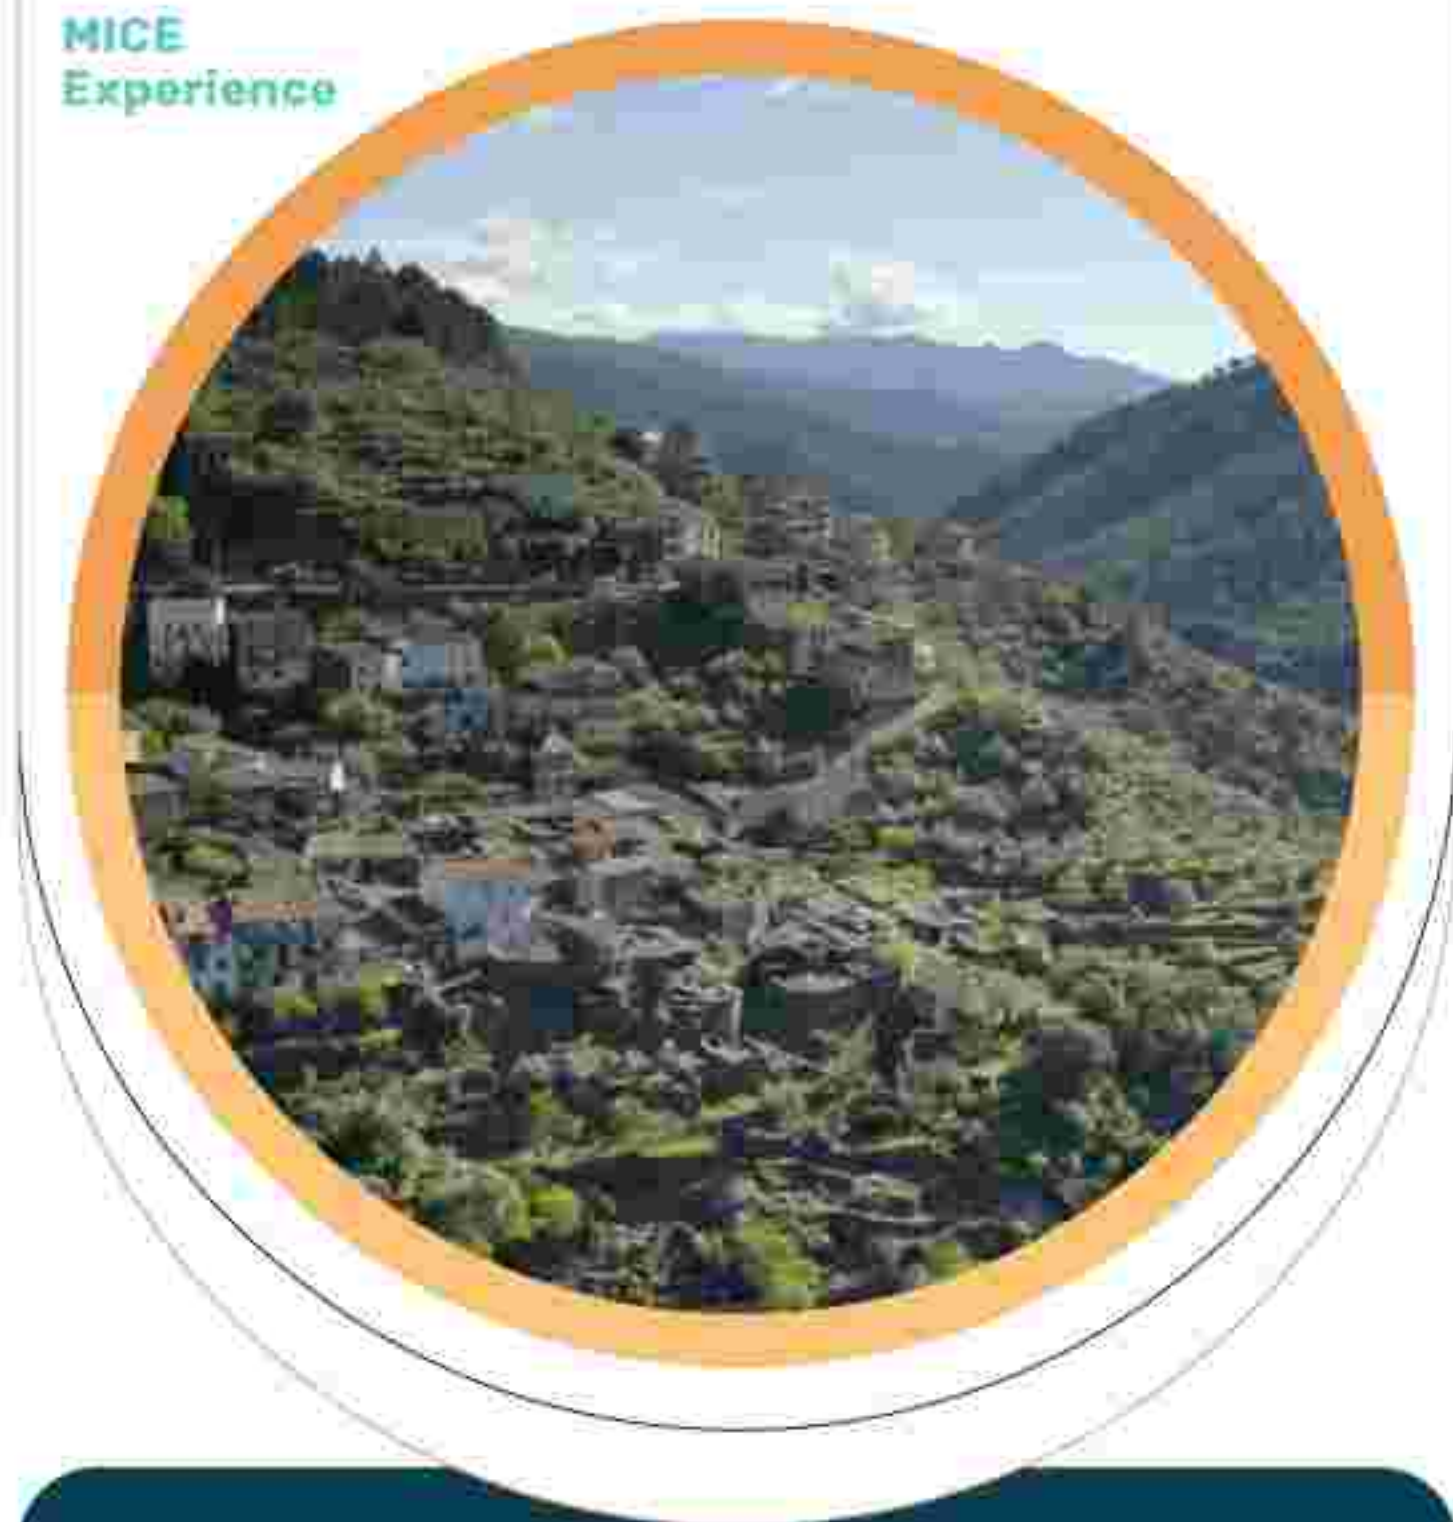

These objectives can be met by having previous professional facilitation and some knowledge of the group. Las Hurdes and its nearby areas can be the perfect place for this activity. There are quiet places where one can forget about problems or mobile phones, as well as spaces that promote personal and group knowledge and collaborative insight. There will also be time for entertaining and challenging group activities.

Las Hurdes, a cursed paradise

For centuries, Las Hurdes was a forgotten and neglected land due to distance and isolation. Now this region gives us an opportunity to live memorable days thanks to its colossal wilderness, delicious cuisine and exceptional architecture. Follow the footsteps of film maker Buñuel through rundown farmhouses depicted in his films as a way of social criticism.

At night, we will travel together into "the unknown" by walking around its abandoned farmsteads and deep forests. We will listen to ancestral tales and look for dark characters, like the 'Macho Lanú', the 'Encorujá' or the 'Jáncanu'.

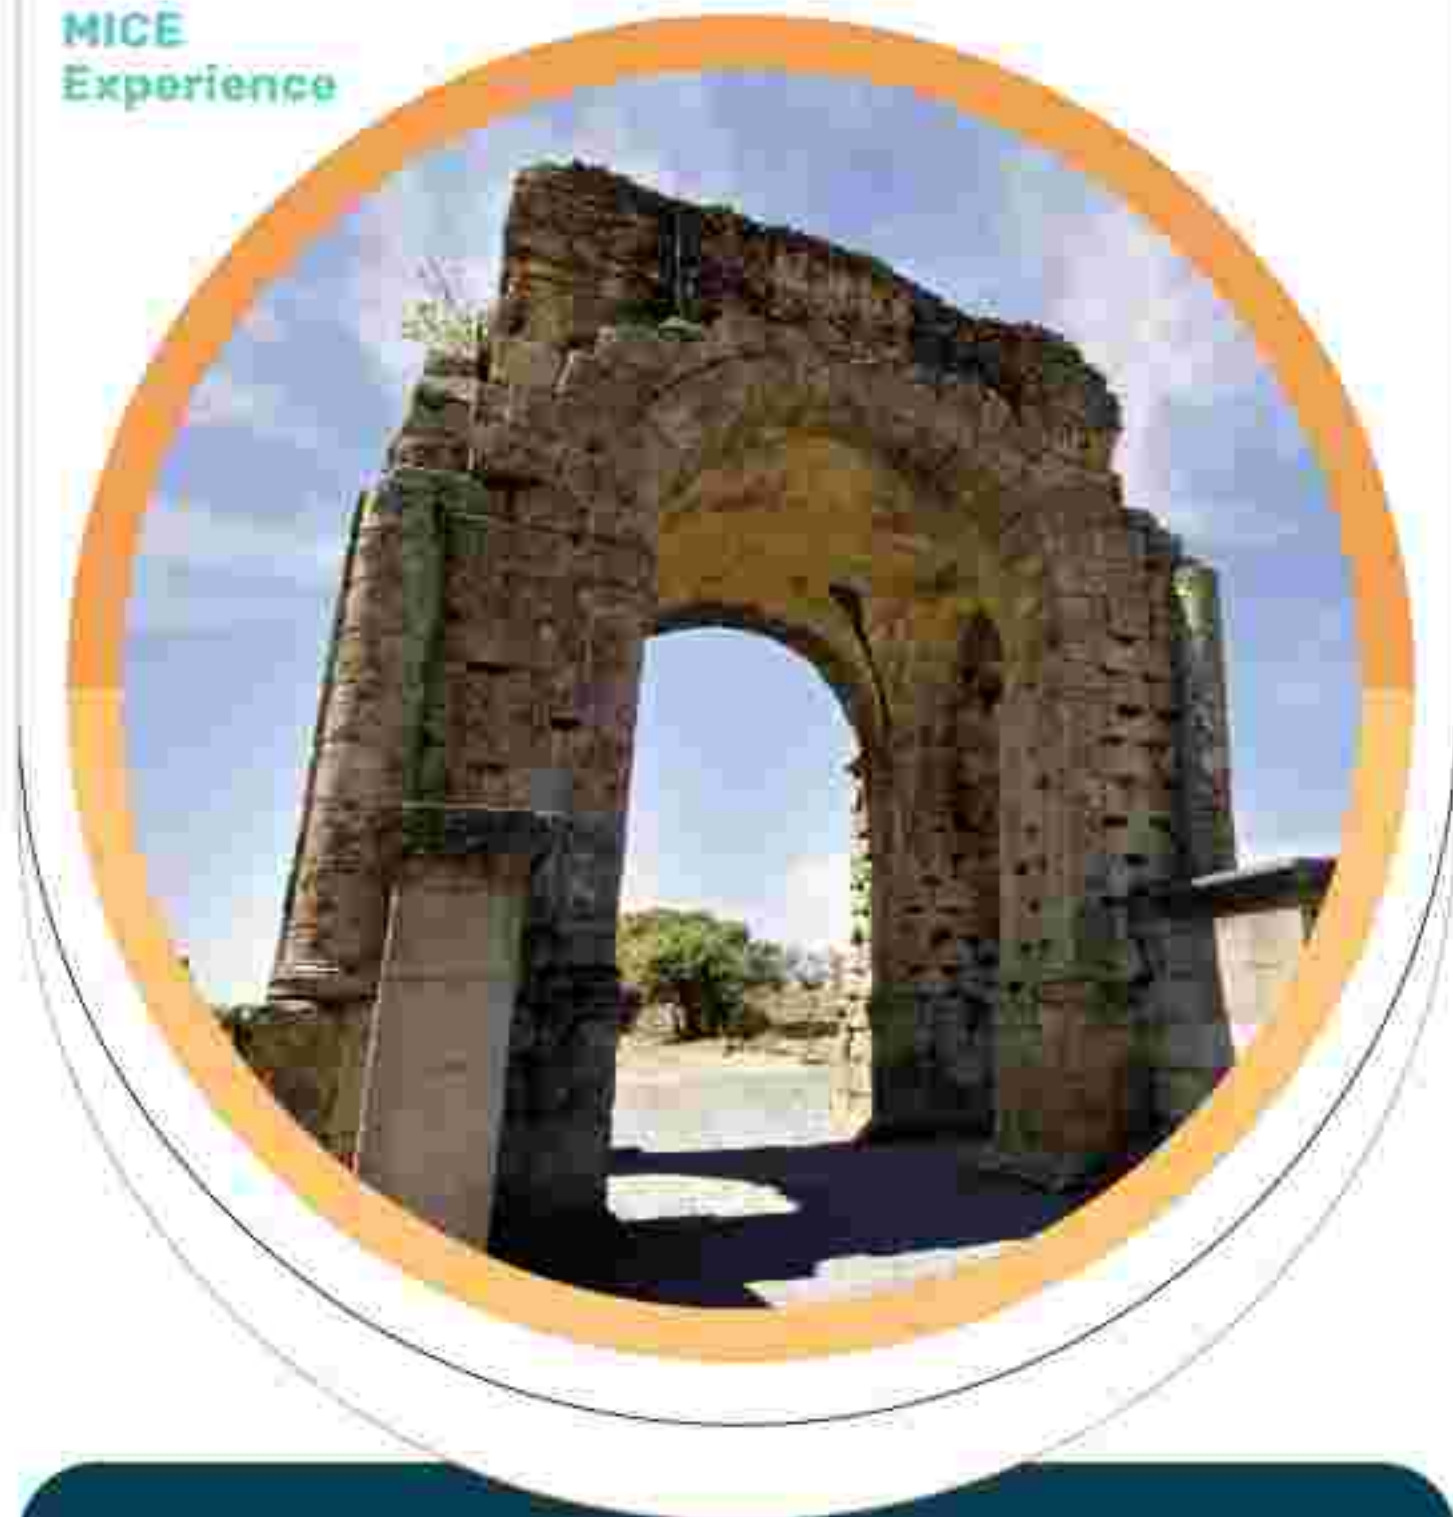

Myths and reality become one.

Hot springs and fairy tale landscapes

From Roman ages, hot springs run through the streets of Baños de Montemayor, a charming town in the North of Cáceres province. Every year, the beginning of a new season is celebrated with a typical festivity called 'Termarium'.

Trade was a common activity in this place thanks to its outstanding location near the Silver Route and it has filled the town with life, handicrafts and tourism.

Consider this an invitation to walk by its singular streets and discover the mixing of bourgeois architecture and manor houses, visit the impressive Santa María de la Asunción church and relax with a bath at the hot springs.

A great opportunity to merge into the culture and beauty of an incredible natural landscape.

Traditional haute couture in Montehermoso

Observing how ancient traditions become highly valued over the years is magical... The bonnet from Montehermoso is a great example of this trend. It has become a real handmade and cultural oddity in this region and beyond.

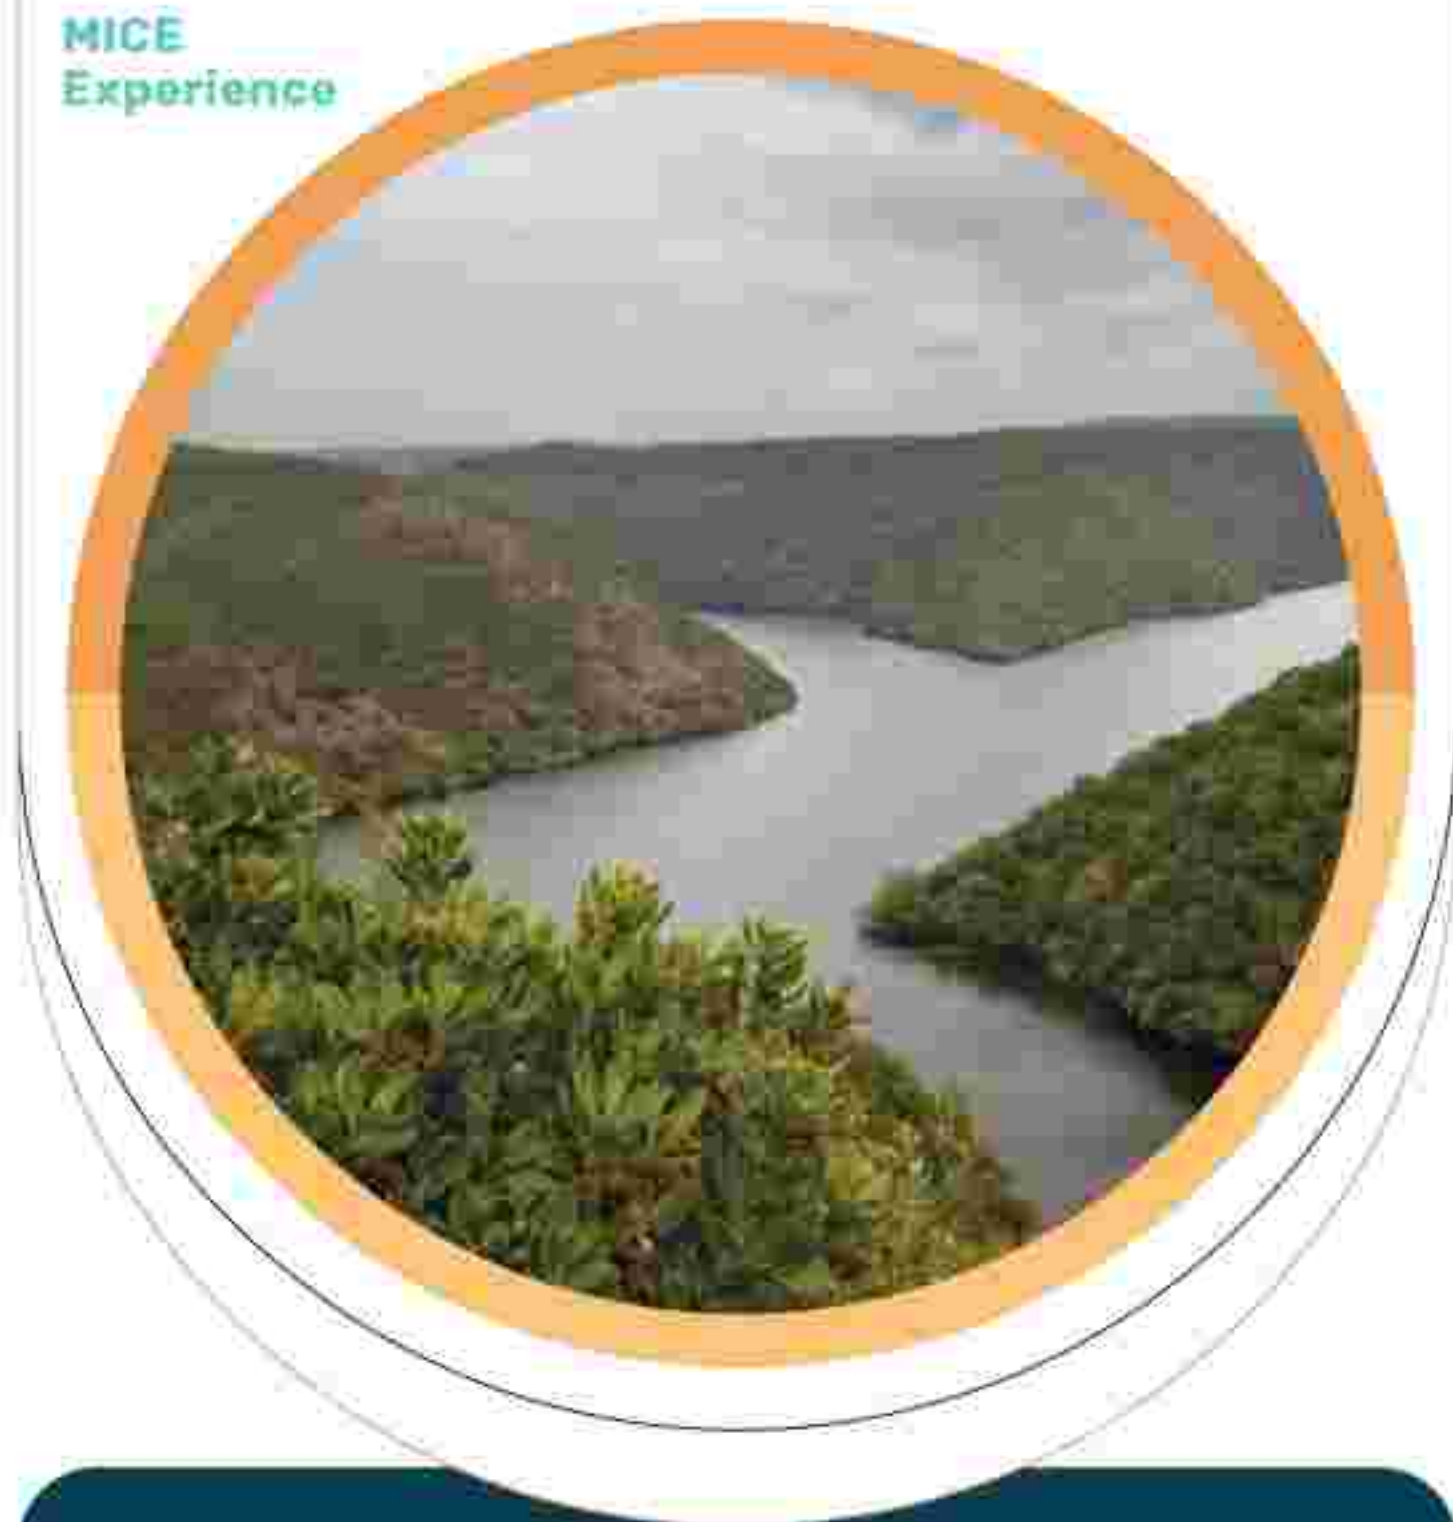

A long time ago, this accessory was manufactured by locals to work at the countryside and sell their products at the market. They eventually added more ornaments and the little mirror. The result is a spectacular and full of significance garment.

This is an invitation to discover the uniqueness of a tradition and enjoy first-hand by learning from artisans and mingling with locals in the beautiful natural area of Valle del Alagón.

Detectives of the past

Let's travel together to the West of Cáceres, very close to the border with Portugal, to discover a region where three rivers meet: Tagus and its tributaries Salor and Almonte.

This strategic location where several cultures have met from prehistoric times until today now hosts trails, ecosystems and wildlife worth exploring.

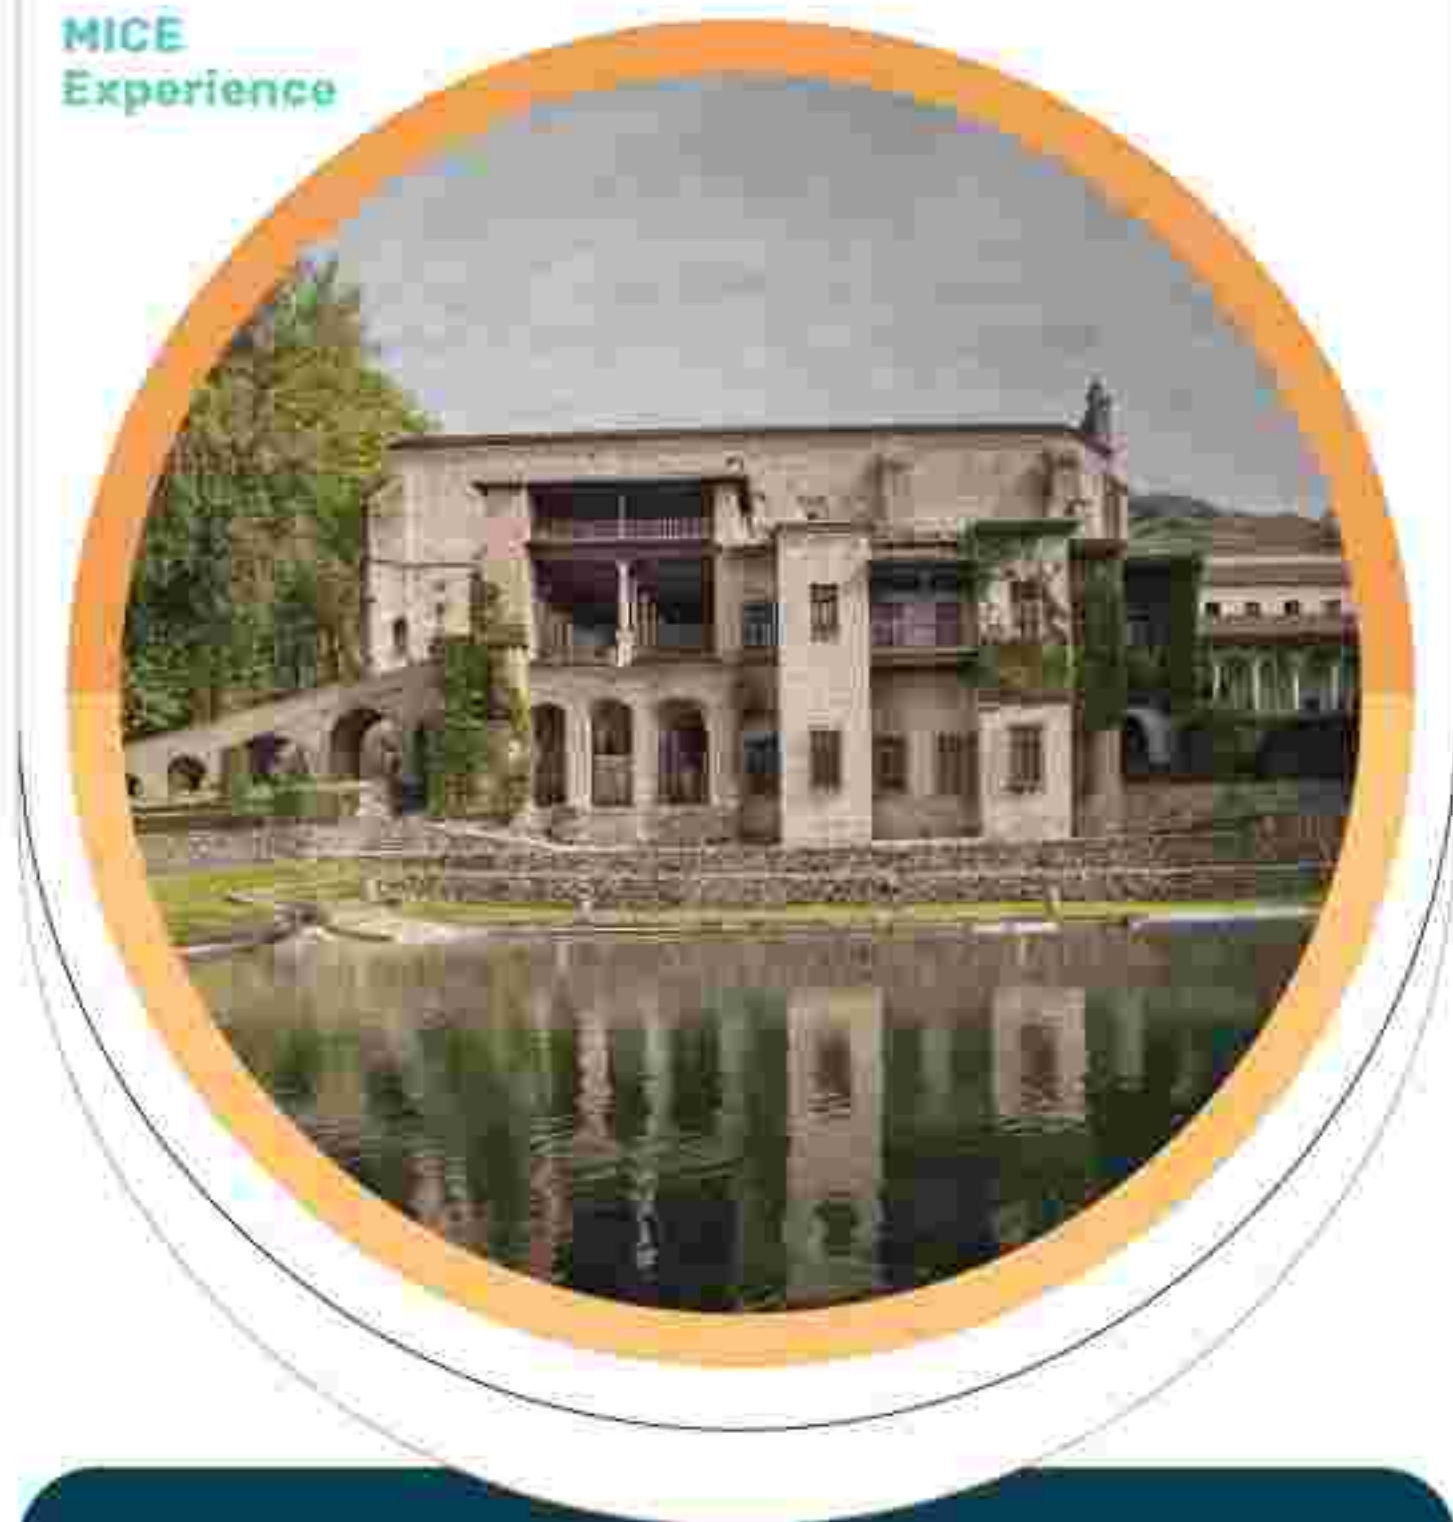

In this activity you will learn all you need to know to investigate and analyse animal traces, identify several plant species and travel to a prehistoric past while discovering former paintings and altars in caves.

We will also explore one of the few dunghills where griffon vultures and other scavenger birds can be seen.

Carolus 3.0

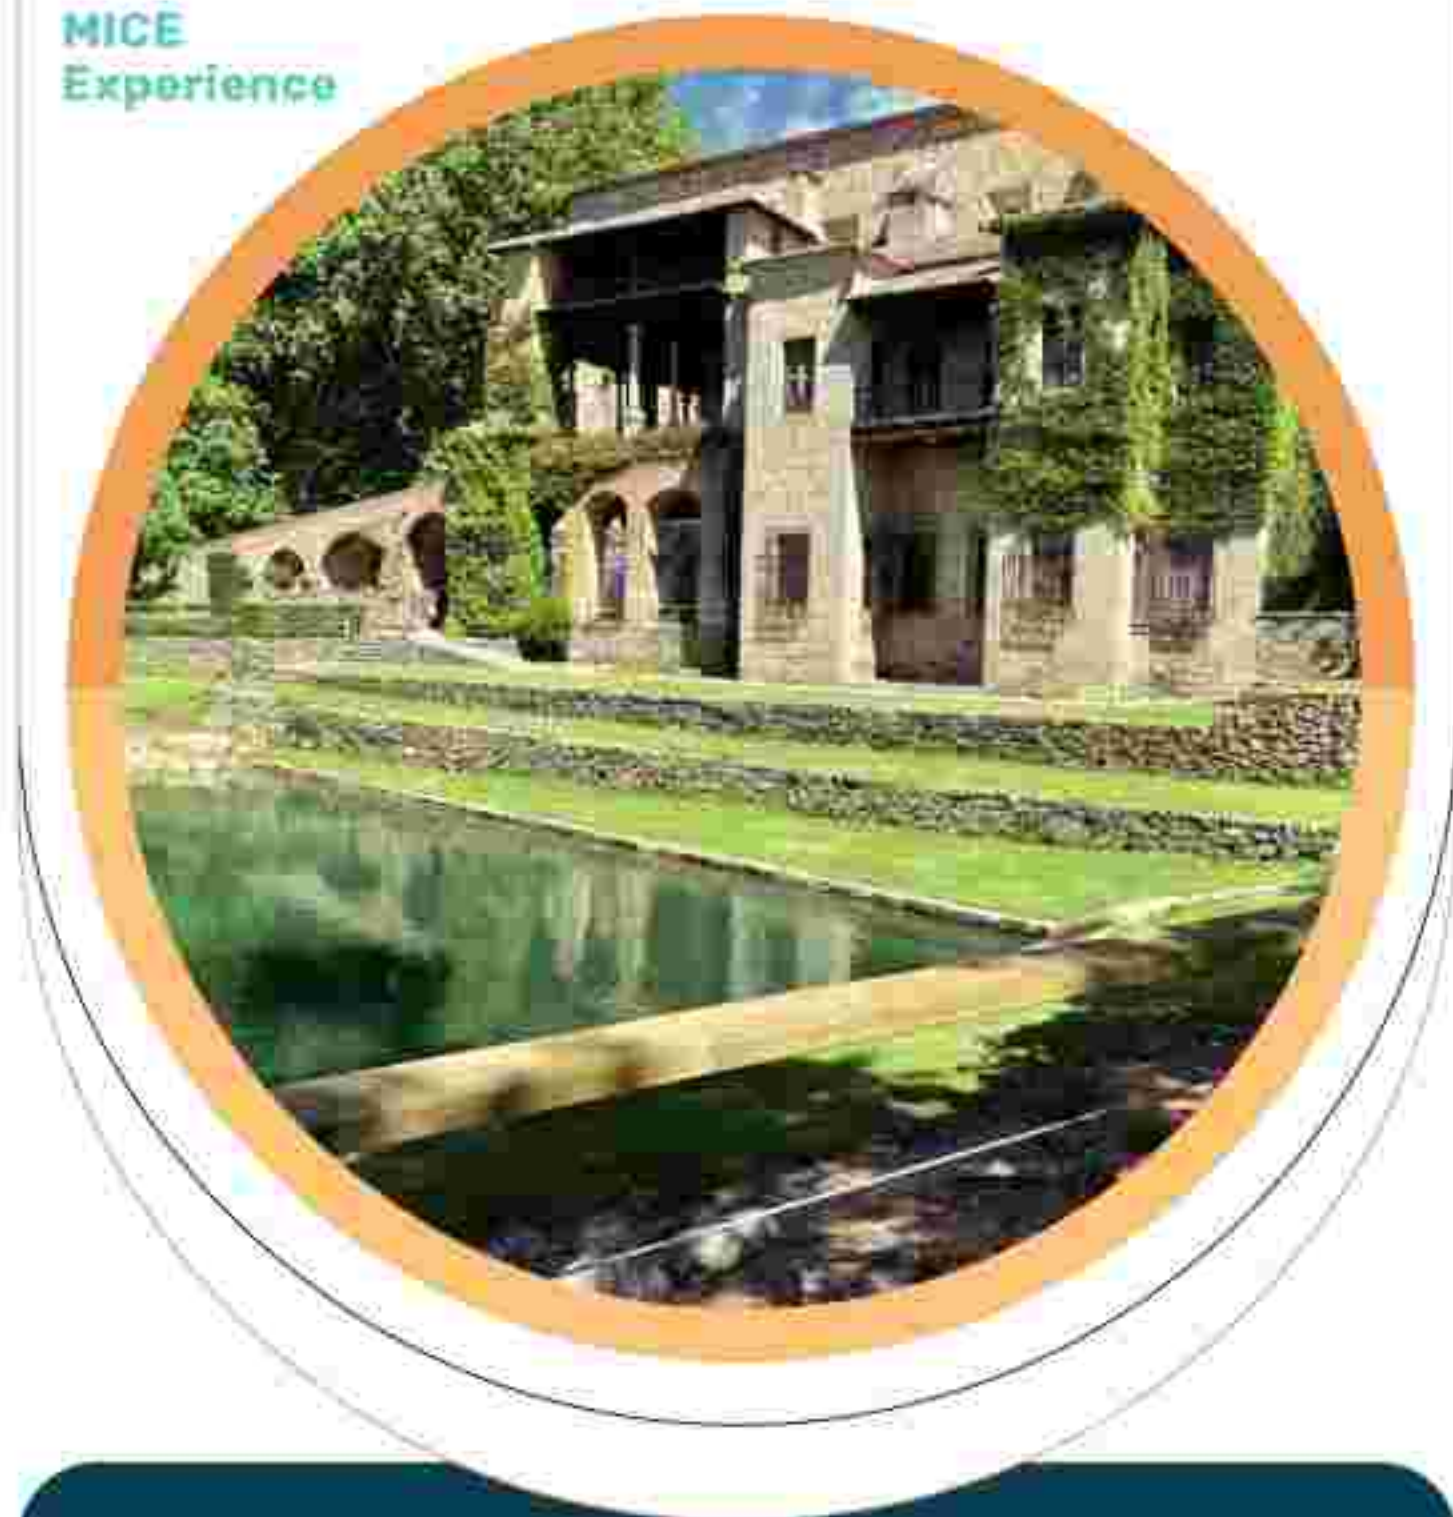

Charles V was the Holy Roman Emperor, the most powerful leader of all Christian territories. He decided to spend his last days in a monastery located in a quiet place, far from everything. He took the Monastery of Yuste, a National and European Heritage Site owned by the monarchy as his home. This complex is sheltered in a privileged area of La Vera and has been recognised for its artistic and historic heritage beyond national borders.

This landmark will let us explore the past to learn interesting facts about the king and his role in the transition from the Middle Ages to the Modern Age. We will explore the unique features of this marvellous place eating like the emperor did, getting to know the crafts and traditions and relaxing while we forget about overcrowding.

Eating like Emperor Charles V in Jarandilla de la Vera

The region of La Vera is so amazing that Emperor Charles V decided to spend his last days there.

The king was a real foodie who liked fresh fish from the coast as well as potato and tomato, very rare products at that time brought to Spain from America. In this experience you will learn, cook and taste Renaissance dishes (XVI century) with the modern twist of local chefs with the Imperial Kitchens quality label.

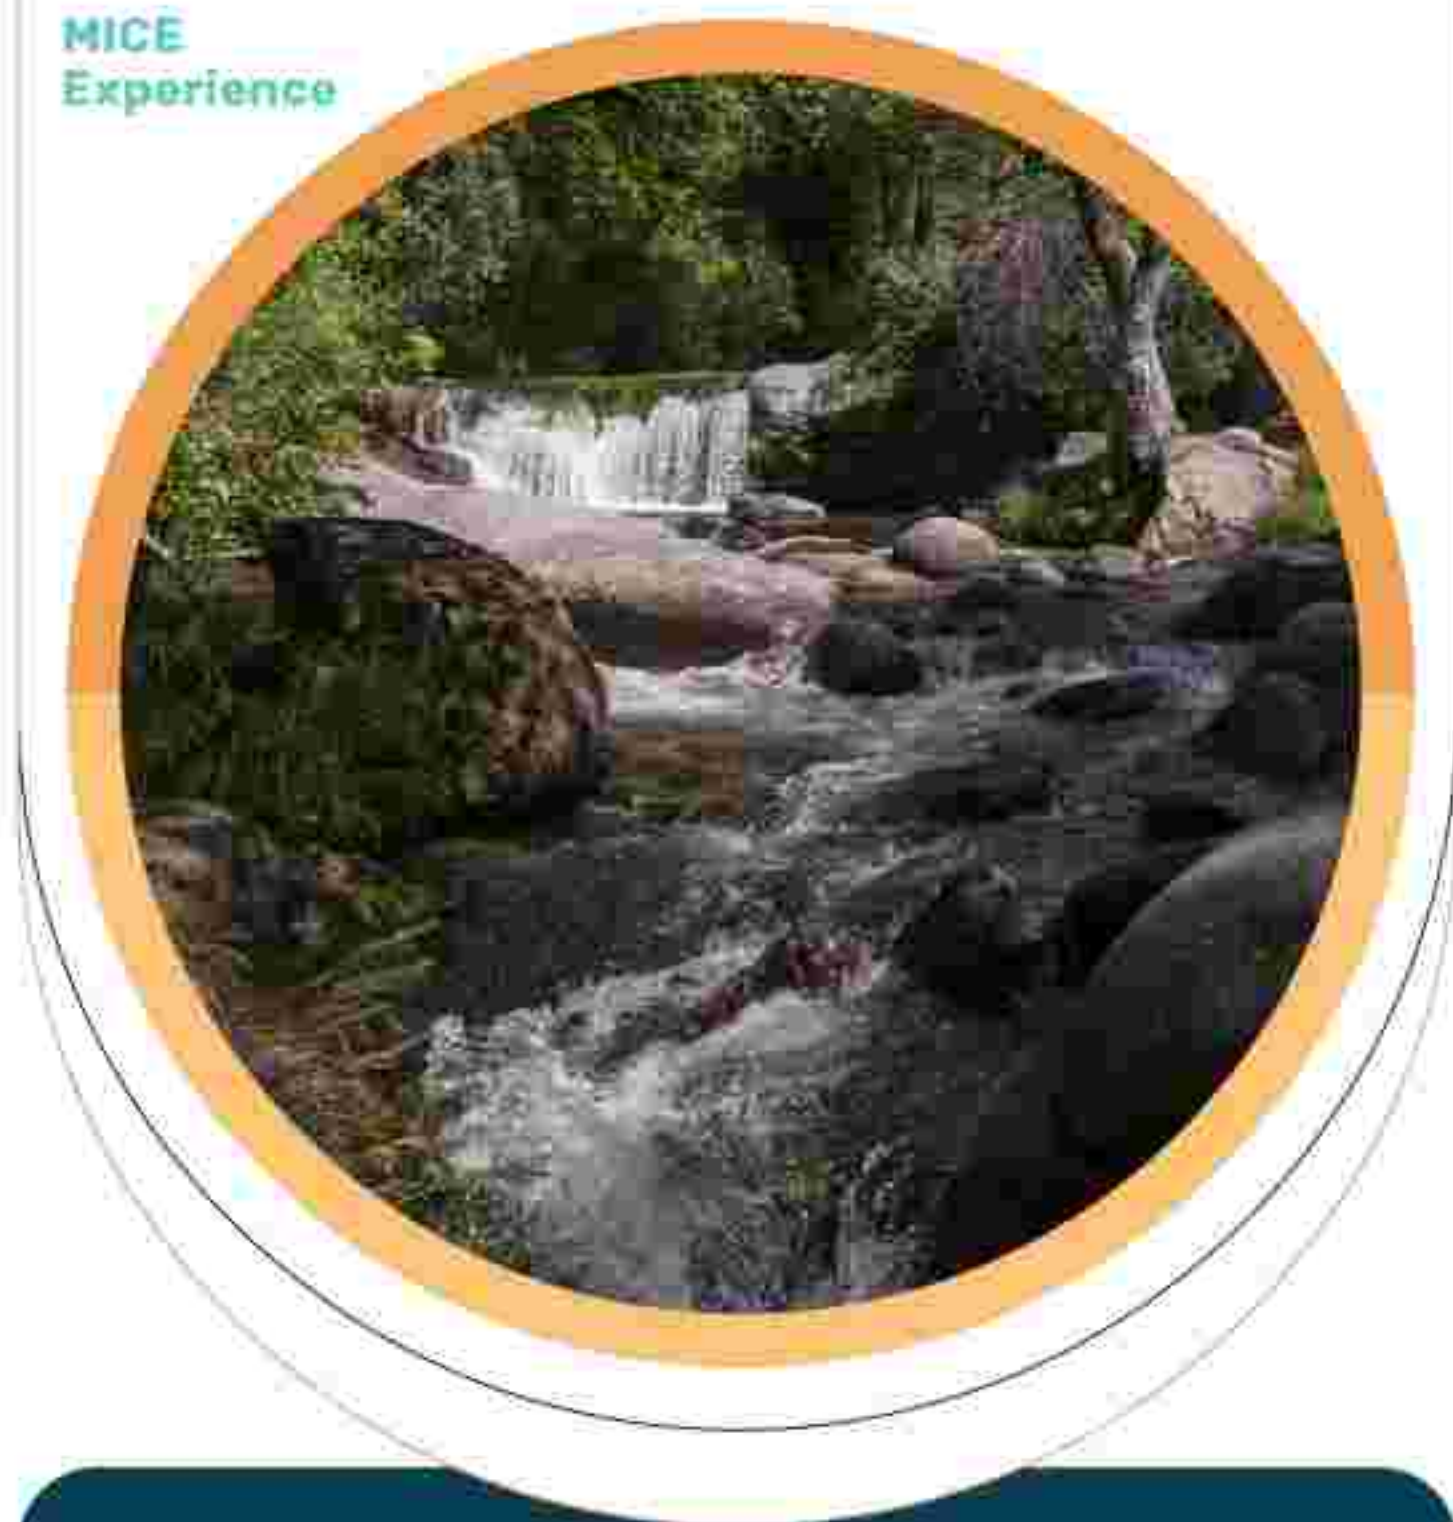

A historic and foodie activity to be savoured in the same dining room where the Emperor usually ate.

Get closer to bulls in Moraleja

There's more to bulls than bullfighting. Breeding bulls is a way of life that encompasses ranching, gastronomy and nature.

Extremadura is home to more than 120 livestock farms breeding fighting bulls, and learning about them from breeders and bullfighters offers a window into their culture and influence on art, music and poetry through the centuries.

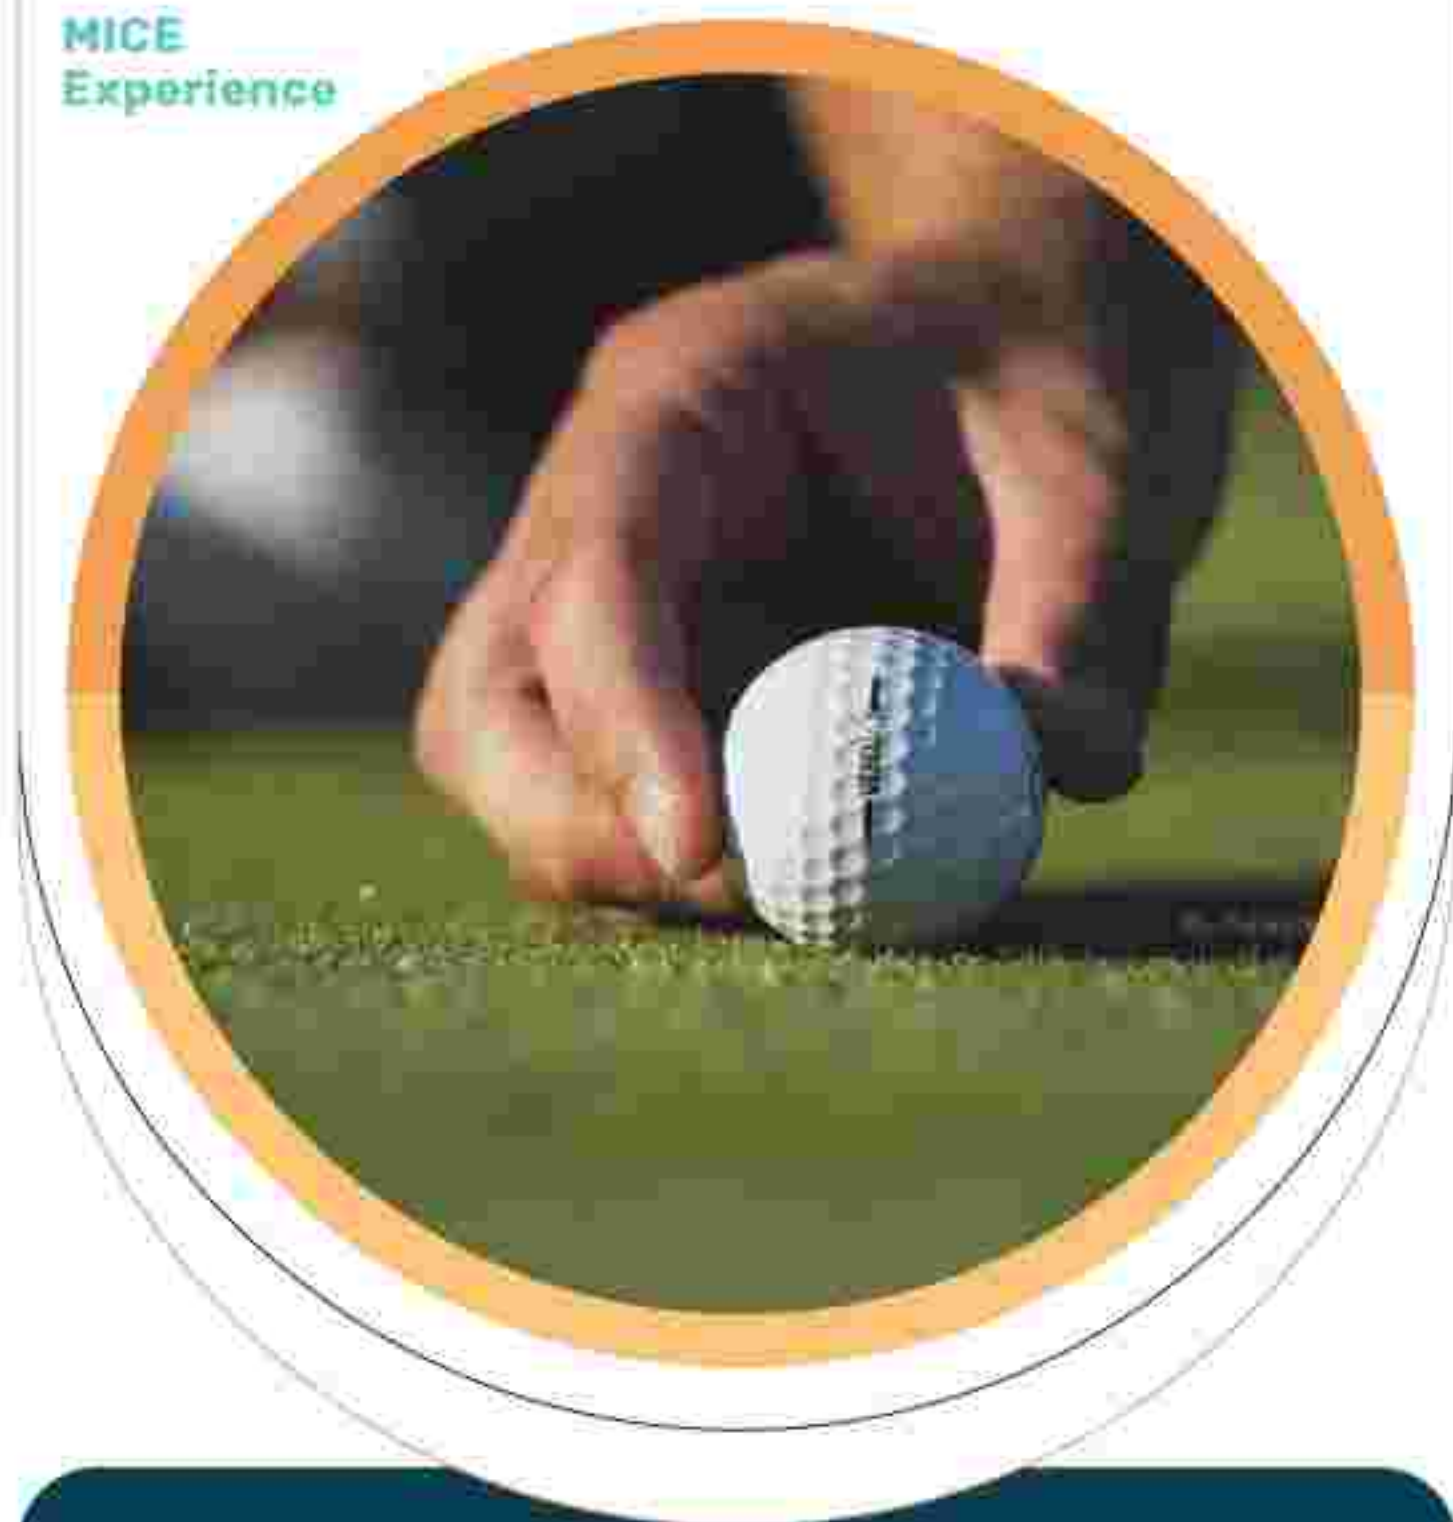

Explore the countryside in Olivenza, as you learn about bulls in the wild and have the opportunity of seeing and photographing them in this dehesa.

Share an outdoor meal with a cattle foreman, learn about reining and, if you're brave enough, get in the ring to face some young bulls.

Discover the bellowing in the Cijara_

Cijara Regional Hunting Reserve is a huge extension of protected mountains in the Siberia area in Extremadura, declared Biosphere Reserve by Unesco.

Explore it and contemplate herds of roebucks, bucks, mouflons and deer. In the mating season (from the end of summer to the beginning of autumn), the male animals barely eat, and you can hear their impressive and deep roar to call their female partners and mark their territory.

This is called the 'bellowing', and it is astonishing animal ritual. At night, herds of male and female animals walk around the area in a competition with one another.

The size of these mountains draws the visitors apart from their world and let them feel freedom and a full connection with nature.

Business strategy lessons by the Roman legions

The Roman army ruled the world for centuries thanks to the use of effective tactics and strategies applied by its infantry.

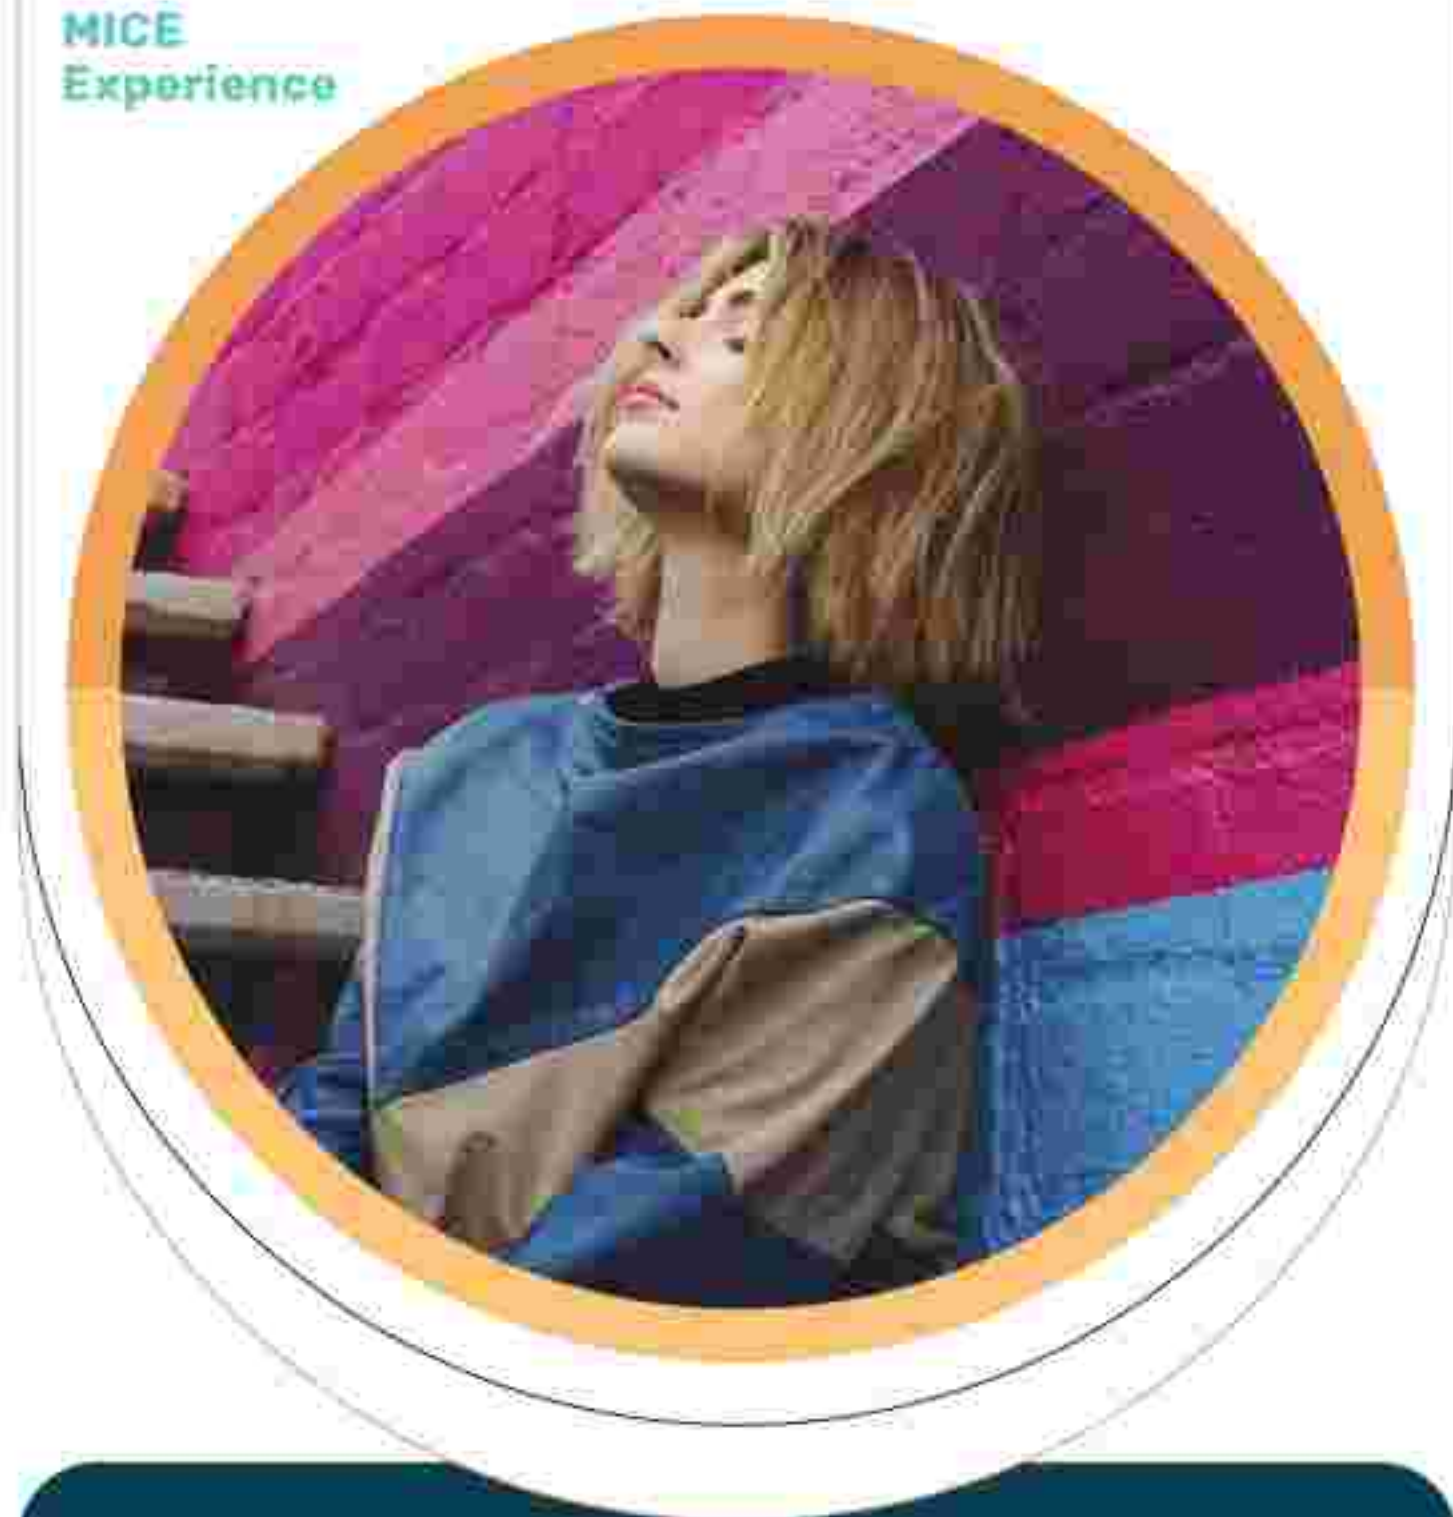

These strategies teach us essential lessons for teamwork that can be used even nowadays with the guidance of experts in strategic management and the collaboration of an historical association specialized in Roman legions.

Mérida is a perfect spot for this learning process. It was founded to be the home of retired veterans from Roman legions. In this case, you will be able to wear a Roman uniform. An opportunity to learn business techniques and strategies using metaphors in a unique experience.

The archaeology of food in Alange

Roman constructions were built to stand the test of time and they have certainly proved their point. Centuries later, their theatres still accommodate classical performances and visitors can wander onto the arena where gladiator combats took place. Furthermore, thanks to Apicius, a cook who lived during the reign of Tiberius, we can also follow in their culinary footsteps.

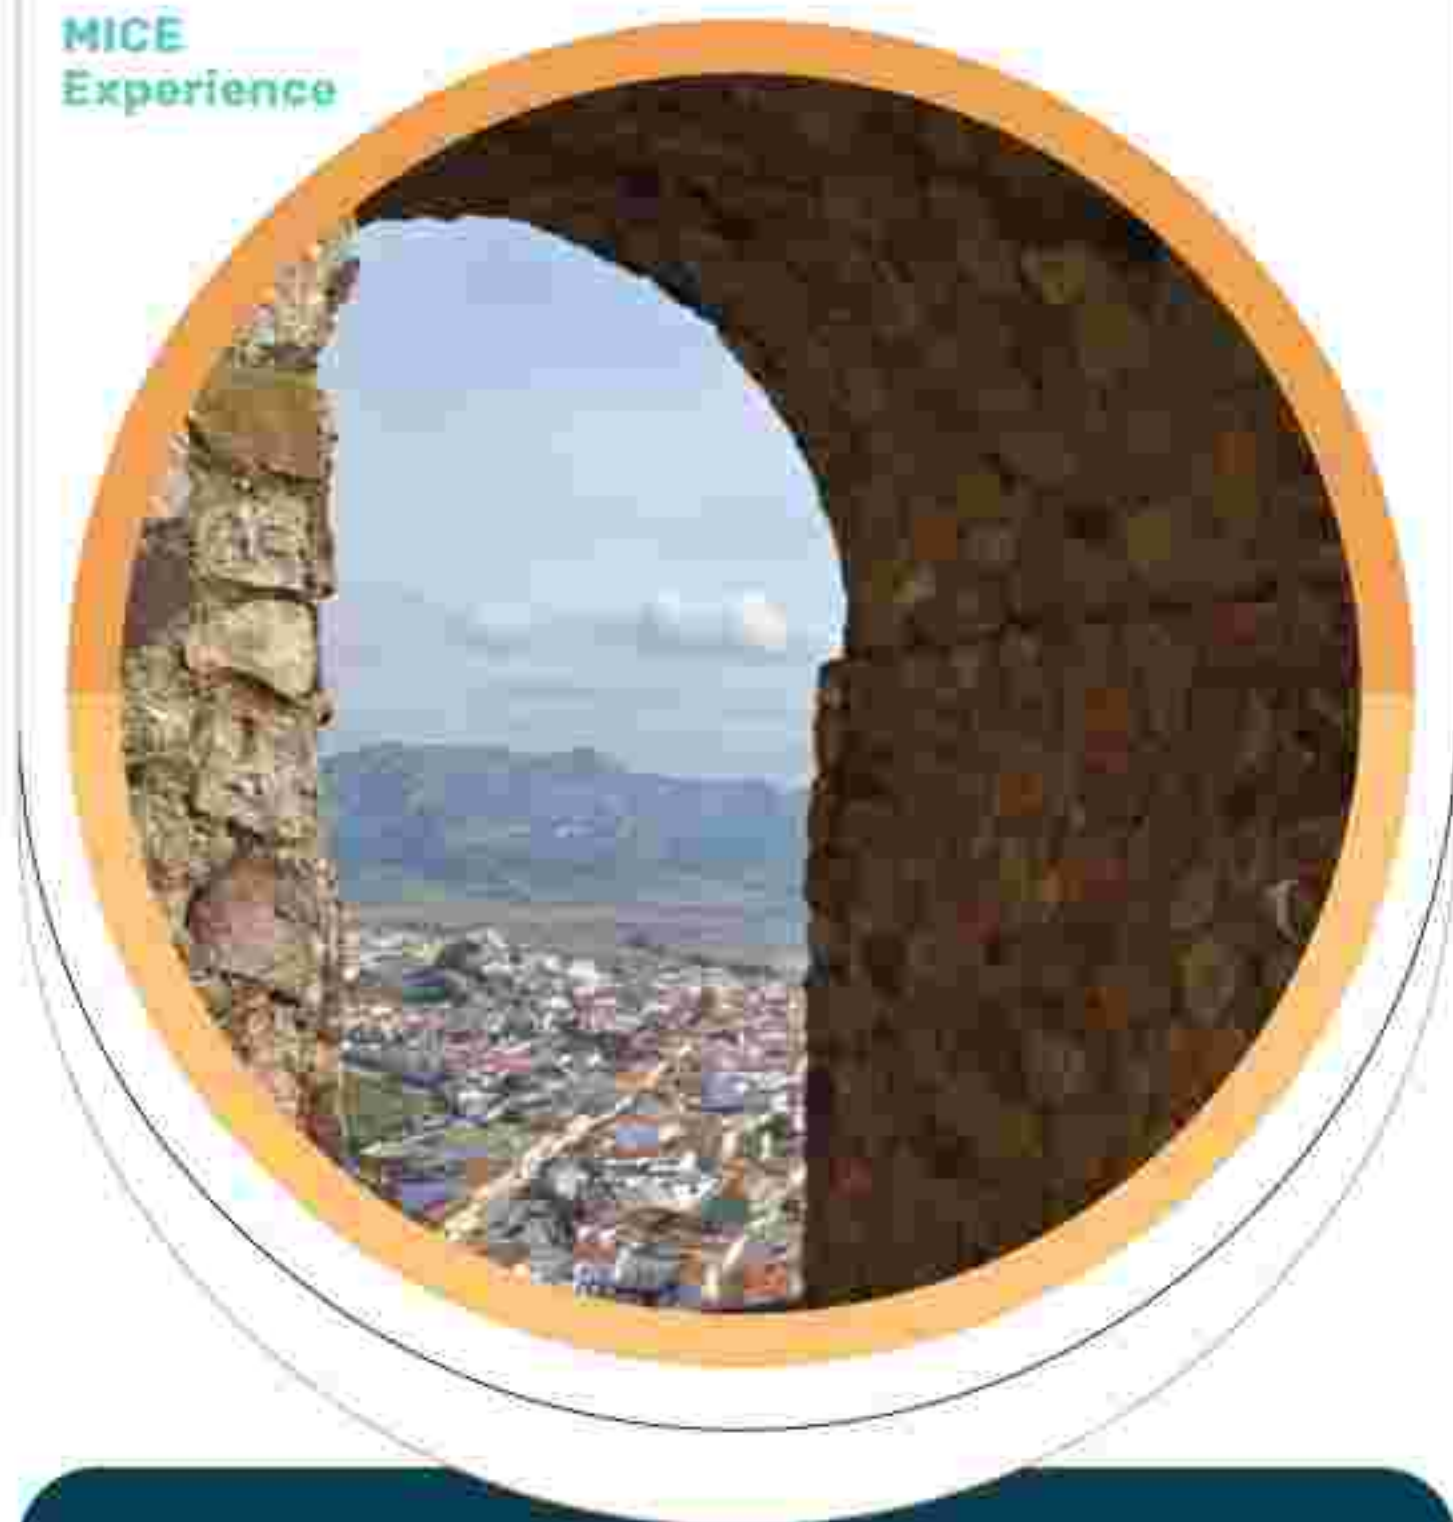

Tuck into traditional fare from over 2,000 years ago, prepared using the same utensils and wearing the same clothes. Experience Roman culture and discover the secrets of Roman gastronomy and table talk.

Continue the Roman ritual with a visit to the thermal baths and enjoy a relaxing massage in an emblematic setting.

All about bulls in Olivenza

There's more to bulls than bullfighting. Breeding bulls is a way of life that encompasses ranching, gastronomy and nature.

Extremadura is home to more than 120 livestock farms breeding fighting bulls, and learning about them from breeders and bullfighters offers a window into their culture and influence on art, music and poetry through the centuries.

Explore the countryside in Olivenza, as you learn about bulls in the wild and have the opportunity of seeing and photographing them in this dehesa.

Share an outdoor meal with a cattle foreman, learn about reining and, if you're brave enough, get in the ring to face some young bulls.

A molecular approach to pairing wine and food

Wine enthusiasts are forever seeking out new sensations, combining wine with gourmet delights, finding the best pairings and improving the blending of flavours.

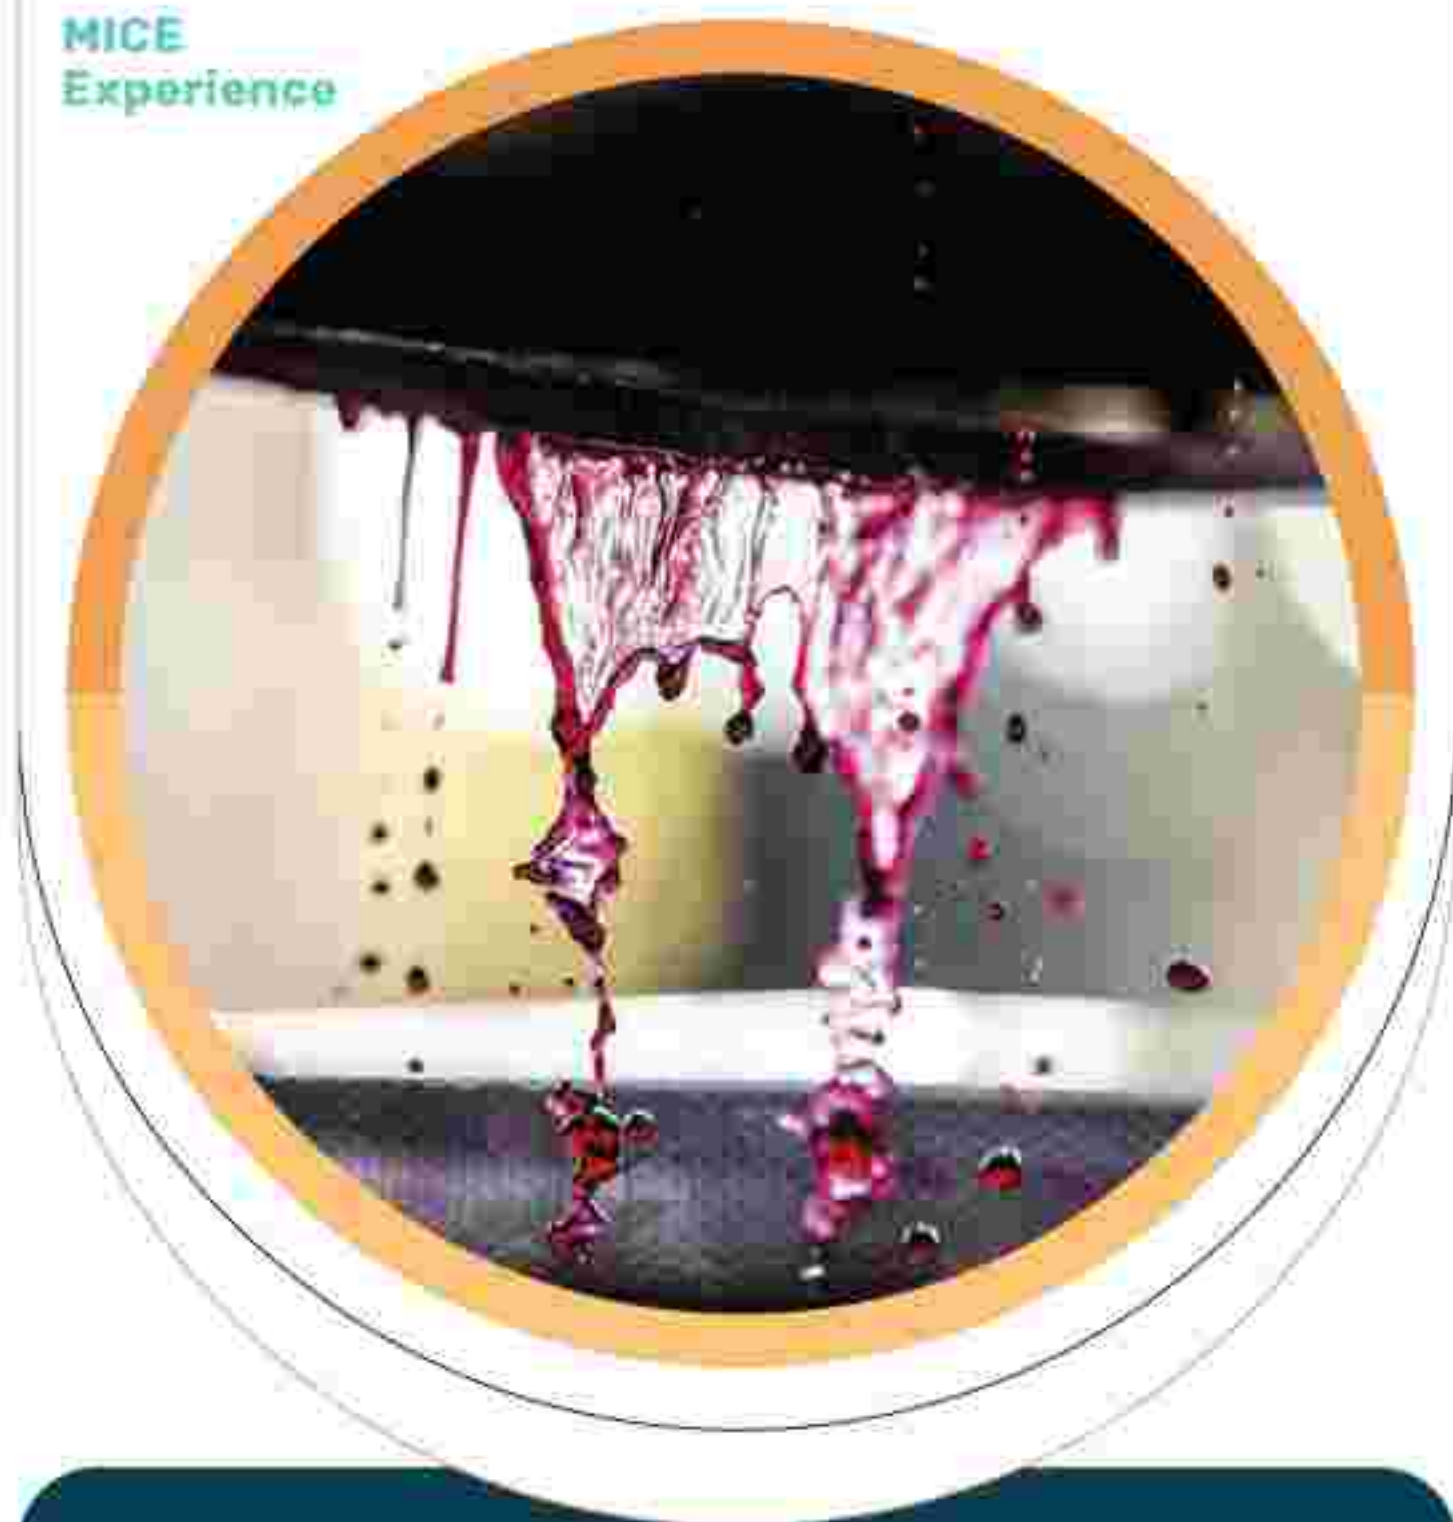

This proposal introduces a groundbreaking experience in Spain: molecular pairings. This approach designs the interaction between wine and food to have a sensory impact on the taste buds, based on sweet, salty, bitter, sour, umami and other descriptors, including body, richness and balance.

The activity is hosted in a winery, visiting the vineyards and facilities, and can be adapted to accommodate different seasonal flavours.
